

PUBLIC LEADER

MISTER SATOLLI.

HE WANTS TO TEACH UNCLE SAM HIS DUTY.

But He Ought to Discard His Latin Lingo and Learn to Talk "United States" First.

The Argonaut.—In both New York and Maryland the Roman Catholic Church, emboldened by its numerical and political strength in those states, has resolved to have American public opinion and make a campaign for the capture of a share of the Public School Fund. In each state the Legislature is to be invited formally to recognize the parochial schools and extend them Government aid. Already this movement has excited a good deal of attention elsewhere, and if it shall be persisted in—as we hope it may—the notice of the awakened Nation will be drawn. For it is obvious that if the church shall succeed in New York and Maryland, or come near to success, it will be encouraged to try its luck wherever any promise of results offers. Papal Delegate Satolli's recent address in Washington to the faculty and students of Gonzaga College may be taken to be a command to the church and an announcement to the public. "The more," he said, "public opinion and the Government favor the Catholic schools, more and more will the welfare of the commonwealth be advanced." Mgr. Satolli also declared that he did not think there should be no doubt left as to his attitude on the school question, and his wish is gratified. He has received from the position which he took by the side of Archbishop Ireland and Cardinal Gibbons in qualified support of the public schools—that is, that Catholic parents were justified in patronizing them when the parochial schools were not so good or too expensive—and has returned to the traditional ground of the Romanists, which is irreconcilably hostile. It is true that in the past he has discreetly refrained from the customary misrepresentation and abuse of the Public Schools, as he is shrewd enough to know that conciliation is the best policy of a minority; but he made it clear that he does the church better served than for the function of the educator. "The Catholic education," he modestly averred, "is the surest safeguard of the permanence throughout the centuries of the Constitution and the best guide of the Republic in civil progress."

It is kind of Mgr. Satolli, an Italian priest, who has been in England, who made this speech in Latin, who has been in the country scarcely a year, and who has not yet taken out his first naturalization papers, to instruct the Government and the people of the United States on what is good for them, not only in the present but in the centuries to come, and to point out how may be preserved a Constitution which is founded on political principles which are at the poles from the Roman Church's theory of divine right in Government. The spectacle of the Papal Delegate, who has been standing up in our National capital lecturing us in Latin would be amusing merely were his authority not held in profound respect by millions of voters of the Republic than is the authority of the Government, which they dwell in liberty. In New York City alone there are six hundred thousand Roman Catholics, every one of whom, if he would keep on good terms with his church and not imperil his immortal soul, must give profound reverence to the usages of the Papal Delegation to the usages of the Supreme Court. That is true also of every Roman Catholic citizen of the Union, native or naturalized.

So it is necessary to take this Italian stranger seriously, and to recognize the power to which most of our politicians bow and before which the American press is abject. This power is bent on destroying the system of popular education that has more than any other system contributed to the greatness of the United States, and it is necessary to make it clear and strong. Its influence on the education which the church imparts to the young is too long to be quoted in whole, but here is an average sample of it:

"We may be sure of this, that all the Americans, of whatever church they may be members, even if of none, recognize the value of the Catholic school; they are interested in it; they honor it; they wish it to continue and progress; they have learned by experience that citizens educated in the Catholic schools do not fall short in knowledge and in love of the American Constitution; that they do not lag behind the most progressive of the American people; they are endowed with steadiness of character, with consistency of purpose; they are just, active, charitable, and generous unto sacrifice. Such, then, is the magnificent spectacle presented to America by the Catholic schools, not unlike the spectacle given by the first Christians to the whole world in the early centuries of the church."

The audacity of this need not surprise. Audacity is what the Roman Catholic Church lives on. It has the audacity to deny the discoveries of modern science, and it denies the reality of modern civilization; it answers to any fact which conflicts with any of its doctrines or purposes by ever simple denial. There is no American who owns his eyes and feels free to receive in his mind the things they see who does not know that what Mgr. Satolli asserts of the Roman Catholic schools is untrue—no education they give is distinctly inferior to that received by children in the Public Schools, and they do not produce good citizens. For the Roman Catholic Church is in a chronic state of complaint against what it chooses to call the discrimination of the Government against it. It complains that the taxes collected for the support of the Public Schools, open freely to all, are not diverted to the maintenance of the private schools wherein its exclusive religious tenets are taught. It complains against our laws of marriage and divorce, to which it refuses assent. It complains if the question of religion is raised in politics to its disadvantage, though it is forever dragging religion into politics to serve its own ends. It complains, in sum, that there is not a union of church and state in the United States, and Roman Catholicism the established faith. Its priests and nuns and lay teachers are possessed by this spirit of complaint, which of necessity breeds jealousy and then gives to the parochial schools their atmosphere. False history and garbled science are taught in these nurseries and the pupils are, so far as may be kept from mingling with the American life around them—from the language, the common sense of their time. It is not because the Public Schools are "godless"—in the sense of ignoring theology in the curriculum—that the Roman Catholic Church abhors them, but because they are modern in spirit, and that spirit is fatal to medievalism, which is the breath of life to Romanism. The parochial school turns out intellectually distorted boys and girls, who, if they have brains, require years of contact with the real world and painful mental struggle to harmonize themselves as American men and women with the sane and unsuperstitious age into which they have been born. Between the Roman Catholic education which Mgr. Satolli belauds and American institutions, there is a chasm, and there never has been and never can be true sympathy. It is in spite of such conceptions of life as the parochial school fosters—conceptions which have put Spain to sleep and kept South America semi-barbarous—that this republic has developed its energy and enlightenment. Our material, our intellectual, our moral and religious progress owe nothing to the stationary Church of Rome.

Tolerance is a blessing for which Roman Catholicism is ungrateful. The instant it feels the thrill of power it casts aside the meek maxims which serve its turn in seasons of weakness, and exhibits the same old bared teeth and sharp claws. It is decided by its local strength in New York and Maryland into fancying that a change has come over the American people, and that it may dare to advance in the open against non-sectarian, state-paid education. By its mistake it invites a rebuff that will go farther than a mere refusal to let it plunder the School Fund. Much caution should be how much it studies in need of being taught again that the vast majority of the men of this Republic are resolved to keep the Priest in his ecclesiastical paddock, where it took hundreds of years to get him. America is still American.

The kind little boys of Portsmouth have hit upon a new and novel plan of amusement. They buy a bologna, put it to a string, hold it to a dog passing the barn is enticed into the building, and then deliberately choke it to death with a sword, quite in the manner of an East India house.

Everybody can afford and everybody can drive, for you can buy a California Horse at auction oh, so cheap, at William Wormald's Coal Elevators Wednesday at 1 o'clock p. m.

Successful Robber Expelled. Yesterday's LEADER contained an account of the recovery at Greenup of a skirt stolen from John F. Tolle of this city. This was not done without considerable loss of time and money by Mr. Tolle, who had prosecuted the search for several weeks. He kept a "log," which shows that he traveled 614 miles, rowing a skiff and a Johnboat 120 miles of the distance. He traveled four hundred and eighty miles by water, and he was in his search. Such perseverance deserves success, and riverman owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. Tolle, whose efforts landed two notorious thieves behind the bars of Castle Kirk. The men claim to be from Ironsion, and they are wanted at several points for the theft of fishing nets, etc.

The Best Yet.

The celebration of the Thirty-first anniversary of Pythianism by Limestone Lodge No. 36 at Neptune Hall last night was an event that will be long remembered.

As early as 8 o'clock couples began arriving and at about 9 o'clock, when the first set was danced, the large hall was filled to its capacity. The crowd was jolly and the committee from the Lodge left nothing undone that would add to the pleasure of their guests. The Mayville Orchestra furnished excellent music. The supper served was a very tasty and well gotten up bill of fare and thoroughly enjoyed by all who had the privilege of participating in it. In the all evening was a grand success, and many were the compliments passed to the credit of Limestone Lodge No. 36.

Merchants, Attention!

Please read THE LEADER'S proposition, under head of "Where to Deal," to be found in another column, and then have your name placed "on the list."

Public Cordially Invited.

The Ben Franklin Lyceum has prepared an especial program for the celebration of Washington's Birthday this evening.

Professor Rowland and Phil H. Kemper have charge of the music, songs, etc. Judge A. A. Wadsworth, C. Burgess Taylor, Professor Rowland and Ben T. Cox will deliver orations suitable to the occasion.

The exercises will commence promptly at 7 o'clock.

Visiting Railroad Men.

Mayville was honored with the presence of three prominent railway representatives, viz:

G. B. Warfel, Assistant General Passenger Agent Baltimore and Ohio South-western Railway, with headquarters at Cincinnati.

Robert E. Breder, Traveling Passenger Agent Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, of Cincinnati, and, lastly, Thomas A. Garrison, E. A. B. and O. S. W. R. W. and G. T. A. O. and M. R. W. and G. G. F. Generally. The latter gentleman had hard work to get all his titles off the train.

What They Did.

The Grand Jury has reported indictments as follows:

George Graben, for forgery. W. W. Watkins and Charles Newdell, for fighting chicken cocks. Mayville and Mr. Carmel Turnpike Company, for charging excessive tolls. Mayville and Hacken Turnpike Company, for charging excessive tolls.

Mayville and Mr. Sterling Turnpike Company, for charging excessive tolls. Mayville and Lexington Turnpike Company, for charging excessive tolls.

The Grand Jury also presented its first report, and was discharged. The jury was in session ten days and returned thirty three indictments.

The jail and other public buildings were examined and found in good condition.

Another Verdict.

The jury in the Hamilton-Shackelford case went into session at 10 o'clock yesterday morning and until nearly 4 o'clock in the afternoon argued as to what damages should be given Miss Lena Hamilton for the failure of Mr. Shackelford in keeping his promise of marrying her.

The case has attracted widespread interest on account of the standing of both parties.

It has too often been related in THE LEADER to need any repetition. Nothing new was introduced in this trial from previous ones.

The jury returned a verdict in favor of Miss Hamilton for $200, which is the smallest verdict yet given her.

The amount asked for in the original petition was $15,000.

We understand the verdict was in the nature of a compromise, in order that the case might be terminated, which it now is.

IT'S SO IF IT'S IN THE LEDGER.

A GOOD(?) BEGINNING.

Which an Unfortunate Witness Follows Up to Old Age.

The utter stupidity and ignorance of some people—our own neighbors often—can hardly be realized. There is no better place to find this fact than in the Police Court, and almost every day there are cases which come up where violations of the law are made through total ignorance, or on anything else.

The violator seems to forget that he or she is only one among millions, but entertain the idea that no one lives but them and their immediate associates.

More than once was this fact exemplified yesterday afternoon in Judge Wadsworth's Court when James Hilderbrand was being tried on the charge of disorderly conduct.

It was not the accused one who would attract any attention in the case, but some of the witnesses introduced and while their evidence may appear funny to the reader it only shows the ignorance of the witness.

For instance: Mrs. Gray, who never lives in one place over a month, (according to her own testimony) said in reply to the question why she hesitated to tell all she knew about the case:

"Well, I'll tell you, Sister Judge, I wasn't raised to talk too much, and I don't ain't going to. I'll tell you the truth as I always do, and I won't say anything more. No, sir, I wasn't raised to talk, and hadn't raise'n' my children that way."

She went on at a lively gait for fully five minutes, and then said in reply to a question regarding a plot the defendant was charged with having:

"You see, the second time he took out that 'er revolver I just fainted. I always do that way. I was raised that way. I never seed no sich things afore, and the second time I just fainted. I didn't know what he was going to do with it, so I fainted until it was put away."

"How long did you remain 'fainted'?" asked Judge Wadsworth.

"Well, now honestly, I don't know that. Maybe it was an hour and maybe it wasn't. You see, I don't have clock time; don't believe in it. And then I wasn't raised that way."

"Well," said the Judge, "do you often faint?"

"Yes, do. When I git sick I git sick pretty quick, I do. I was raised that way. Now, that's all I know."

And she was dismissed.

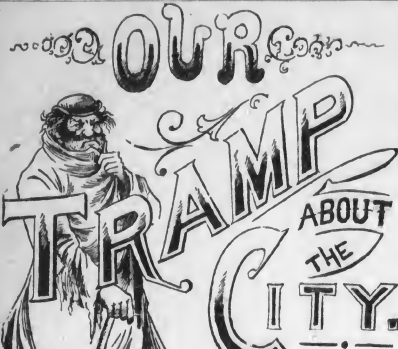

Lulu Rogers, a rather pretty young girl who her mother, Mrs. Gray, swore was only 16 years old, next took the stand, and after telling about her children, three in number, began relating what she knew about the case.

She said the reason that "Bill" had out the revolver was because they were all "afraid of the Lord," and that they sang hymns, etc., to keep him away.

Other witnesses were introduced, but all the testimony went in the same direction, and "Bill" was dismissed.

But he didn't get to leave the Court-room, No, indeed. You see, there was another witness to against him for fiddling on a street car some time ago, and he was arrested on that charge and will have a hearing Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Some pretty strong evidence has been secured against him in this case, and he will probably get a good dose.

PUBLIC LEDGER CO.
THOMAS A. DAVIS,
Maysville, Ky., Jan. 1st, 1894.

Look out for 12,000 Republican majority in Pennsylvania today. Br'er MARSH, please pass this up in front of you, so you may see how near we come to it.

THE Bulletin devotes some space to a sketch of THOMAS G. SHEARMAN'S Free-trade lecture tour in New York state. It is made to appear that the distinguished apostle of British interests was everywhere panned by large and appreciative audiences. But it was not mentioned that the outraged workmen of Albany, who had been fooled once by Free-trade demagogues, did not propose to have Master SHEARMAN pollute the atmosphere in that city, and that it took the police to prevent a back number of eggheads. This occurred February 10th last. "Tell the truth," Br'er MARSH.

Hi, there, Brother MARSH!
Why are you "croaking" such damaging croaks?
Well, well, well!
The Bulletin has gone and done and did it again!

After charging THE LEDGER Editor with being a "clammy howler," Saturday's impression of THE Bulletin contains a croak nearly an entire column in length!

Of course Br'er MARSH will say he didn't say it, but it's there all the same; and as the folks that furnish the boiler-plates are supposed to be non-partisan, there surely must be room for "croaking" or they wouldn't have "howled" nearly a whole column of "clammy" talk.
Please hunt up Saturday's Bulletin and draw a bead on the middle column of its first page. It has more than a "stickful" of large display heading, and this is the way it starts off.

NO DOOM IN BUSINESS.

Record-breaking Week in Trade Transactions—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Report.

In Wheat, in Silver, in Some Forms of Iron and Steel, in Cincinnati Cattle and in Wall Street Cotton and Woolen Goods the Lowest Prices Ever Known Have Been Made.

And then the "croak" goes on to recite a long list of mercantile misfortunes, such as this country has never before experienced.

There were 323 failures during the past week, against 197 the same week last year under Republican rule.

And here is a significant sentence which we say, and to show that the boiler-plate Editor takes issue with the potato-patch Editor.

Textile industries do not seem to have gained within the past week, for as many works have closed as have resumed work, and in woolen and cotton manufacture rather more.

Oh, well; Br'er MARSH, just say the Common Silver Law did it all, and let it go.

There's no rubbing it out. DAVID BENNETT HILL in the Senate is a "tiger" next GROVER CLEVELAND in the White House. THE LEDGER cheerfully reports to Messrs. HONOLANDER and PARKMAN as proof. GROVE, you're in the conundrum.

What has the Editor of THE LEDGER been doing that he should be so anxious for the Grand Jury to adjourn?—Bulletin.
Why, dear Brother, we've been holding down one of Uncle Sam's pie fondles—not a very soft job either, but that's a great many aspirin to. Now that there has come the "change" that you've voted for, we will have much more time to devote to your questions. So just unlimber your guns.

PRESIDENT GREENBUT, the head of the great whiskey trust, reports the affairs of that combine in a very satisfactory condition. The price of whiskey has advanced, business has been very good during the year, and the Wilson Bill will greatly enhance the value of stock on hand. Let us see: Wasn't there something said in the campaign of 1892 about "smashing trusts"? Somebody send us a list of those which have all smashed.

Washington Post.—Drop a brick on ex-Minister Stevens's head and get a better position at the pie counter.

THIRD TIME IS COMING.
Springfield Union.—The Senate can do as it pleases with the Wilson Bill, but next November the plain people will take a hand.

DEMOCRATIZED.
Buffalo Commercial.—The people are satisfied that they have got out of the last National election too much Grover and Change and too little Clover.

A BIG JOB.
Chicago Tribune.—Perhaps the Congressmen who carried Chairman Wilson on their shoulders will be kind enough to carry his district for him next fall.

A COUNTER.
Indianapolis Journal.—If the Wilson bill could be defeated the United States could well afford to assume a debt as large as that at the close of the war.

WHAT RETARDS PROSPERITY.
St. Louis Globe-Democrat.—Prosperity will return just as fast as the Democrats abandon their various conspiracies against commercial and industrial interests.

WHERE COMFORT MAY BE FOUND.
Bookester Democrat and Chronicle.—If Chairman Wilson likes to read genuine and heartful prayers for his Tariff bill he should look at the editorial columns of English newspapers.

WHERE MOST NEEDED.
Chicago Inter Ocean.—The House ought a soothing much poultice to the Italian wounds. The poor man needed treatment. If it did the swelling from his head it will do well.

CELEBRATE.
Washington Post.—The Congressmen who shirk under the impression that an income tax would be popular with the people is simply inviting correspondence with the gold brick operators.

NOT A CIRCUMSTANCE.
Philadelphia Press.—Income tax perjury won't be a circumstance to prevent ratification of the Democratic Congress from a Protected district the next time he has to face his idle and hungry constituents.

WHY NOT?
Indianapolis Journal.—Senator Gorman of Maryland says the Wilson Bill will be considerably changed in the Senate. Why not change it from a living menace to a harmless cotton ball by knocking out the enacting clause?

ANOTHER "REFORM."
Chicago Tribune.—A Democratic contemporary says "Americans eat too much." In these "good old Democratic times" there are a lot of Americans who are not overfeeding. Possibly this is one of the "reforms" of "the Democratic Tariff reform" party.

SOUND ADVICE.
Philadelphia Press.—If the Democrats of the Committee passed the bill their determination not to permit any hearings, let the Republicans carry the issue into the Senate. If they cannot induce the Senate to order hearings, let them notify the industries to prepare representatives which shall be presented to the Senate itself. The House can be driven under the whip and spur. The Senate Committee can shut its doors. But in the Senate itself the gag law cannot be applied.

CORRESPONDENCE

(The Editor of THE LEADER is not responsible for the opinions expressed by Correspondents; but nothing reflecting upon the character or habits of any person will be admitted in these columns.)

Correspondents will please send Letters as far as possible not later than 6 o'clock a. m. One note in as few words as possible. We cannot make in this department, and not advertising notices or political remarks.

OUR AGENTS.

The following are authorized Agents for THE LEADER in their respective localities:

Memphis—Matthew R. Hoffman.
St. Louis—Robert H. Ford.
Cincinnati—Frank W. B. Gresham.
St. Paul—B. G. Gresham.
Chicago—C. C. Gresham.
Cleveland—Charles W. Gresham.
Pittsburgh—Mrs. J. J. Stewart.
Cincinnati—Key & Forsythe.
Cincinnati—Lester H. Hauer.
St. Paul—Joseph W. Williams.
St. Paul—Charles W. Williams.
St. Paul—Thad. F. Moore.
St. Paul—Giles—John Thomas.
Subscribers will save the trouble of letter writing by paying their subscriptions to the Agent at their place.

ORANGEBOUR.

Mrs. Ida Crosby is quite ill with pneumonia. Addie Browning was visiting her cousin, Celia Cooper, last week.

Pneumonia will prevail to almost an alarming extent in this neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boughton were visiting the family of R. P. Tolle last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Valentine and daughter Jennie were the guests of Mrs. A. M. Cooper Sunday.

MORANBOUR.

Miss Jennie Kline was the guest of Miss Lena Frisbie of Mayville Saturday and Sunday.

There will be a call meeting of the S. of T. to night. All members are earnestly requested to be present.

There was no service at the Christian Church Sunday morning. Elder Willard Hall preached in the evening.

Many of our young men and ladies are winning under the effect of some beautiful Valentine's they received last week.

Professor Martin, teacher of the Jersey Ridge School, has had a two weeks' tussle with the grip. It is about recovered and will begin school again tomorrow.

The S. of T. will give a masquerade party at their hall Friday evening. Many invitations have been given out, and it will no doubt be an enjoyable occasion. Let all who have been invited attend and have a good time.

As THE LEADER's former correspondent at this place, Matthew Hoffman, has moved out of this neighborhood, and no one has as yet taken his place, we venture to send in a few items this week, as our people like to see news from our place in the paper. If this first adventure proves successful we may try again soon. One early baying news that they would like to put in THE LEADER will confer a favor by leaving it at the Postoffice.

The large dairy herd of Mrs. M. Nite was destroyed by the new Mt. Carmel. A crop of tobacco and a large quantity of food were consumed. The incendiary was followed in the snow to the pike, where his tracks were lost. There was no insurance.

The Newport Grand Jury will report an indictment against the C. and O. Railroad. It is being drawn in accordance with a clause of the new Constitution providing for the recording in the County Clerk's Office of the proper and legal title of all corporations and companies doing business in the state.

ALEX. PENDLETON, held at Flemingsburg for stealing goods, has been returned to Bath county, where he is wanted for a dozen robberies. His house was searched Saturday, and a complete outfit of burglar tools discovered. He is a desperate character, and figured in the Rowan county feud several years ago. He is thought to be the leader of an organized band of thieves who have been terrorizing Fleming county for the past six months.

JOHN V. DORR of Warsaw, Ill., was troubled with rheumatism and tried a number of different remedies, but says none of them seemed to him any good, but finally he got hold of one that speedily cured him. He was much pleased with it, and felt sure that others similarly afflicted would like to know what the remedy was that cured him. He states for the benefit of the public that it is called Chamberlain's Pain Balm. For sale by Theo. C. Power, Druggist.

JOHN L. HINDMAN, a native of Bourbon county and a California "forty arder," died at Pueblo, Colo., aged 70. He started across the plains with Joseph Smith the Mormon prophet for a guide, and was suspected of treachery got rid of him. He was one of the party that discovered the victims of the Acme & Meadow massacre. He had many thrilling experiences as a pioneer throughout the West, amassed three fortunes but lost them, and for twenty years had been living quietly in Pueblo.

WATCH FOR OUR GRAND PREMIUM, the Magic City, in a few days.

ALBERT FAVORITE OF ARKANSAS CITY. Rans, wishes to give our readers the benefit of his experience with colds. He says: "I contracted a cold early last spring that settled on my lungs, and I had hardly recovered from it when I caught another that hung on all summer and left me with a hacking cough which I thought I never would get rid of. I had used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy some fourteen years ago with much success, and I concluded to try it again. When I had caught through with one bottle my cough had left me, and I have not suffered with a cough or cold since. I have recommended it to all and speak well of it. Fifty-cent bottles for sale by Theo. C. Power, Druggist."

NAVYVILLE, TENN., March 28, 1900.—The Student Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn.—Gentlemen: It was my exceeding pleasure to speak of your Medicine, as I consider it something wonderful in the way of medicine. I have used it for a number of years, and I can say that it is a most reliable and effective remedy. I have used it for a number of years, and I can say that it is a most reliable and effective remedy. I have used it for a number of years, and I can say that it is a most reliable and effective remedy.

Or all the nice things that the Jewelers of Mason county keep, Balenger's certainly is the first. His stock is not mingled with any shabby or trashy stuff, but if you get it all you are getting the best. Give him a call.

The beautiful Shaw-Gold Lined Tus Set in Balenger's window would be a decided bargain at the price to which it was marked down. It is the very best quality, and the price for entire set to day is $10. If not sold to-day the price to be reduced will be $14 and the price will be reduced $1 every day until it is sold.
